

45 YEARS OF SMILES

2025 is a very special year for Ruabon Road Dental Practice as it marks our Sapphire Anniversary. Sapphire has been considered since ancient times a symbol of longevity, endurance and fulfillment, which sums up the last 45 years perfectly. We have lots of events planned throughout the year to commemorate this milestone and you will all be invited to celebrate with us.

In the Spotlight

Many of you will recognise Mr Reed who bought the practice with Nigel Bloor in July 1978 across the road at No 73. No 96 came up for sale in late 1979 and after converting domestic rooms to surgeries they moved in on 1st April 1980. "That was the first time we called ourselves Ruabon Road Dental Practice" recalls Mr Reed "At the time it was illegal as practices weren't allowed any branding and could only advertise using their name." The practice still holds a precious place in Mr Reed's heart, "I have been retired 20 years and still miss it."

Winning Team

You might think we are used to winning awards, but no contest has been more hard-fought than last week at The Pontcysyllte Chapel Tea Room. When the Toothfaires aka Rhiannon, Hannah, Jade, Teleri, Paula and Helen joined Hope House Charity Quiz they finished rock bottom but through determination and a hint of genius they have climbed their way to victory.

Fairy-conomy

28th February is National Tooth Fairy Day in UK.

So, how much is a baby tooth worth these days? Research from Dental Phobia shows the Tooth Fairy is feeling the pinch like the rest of us. Encouragingly she is still checking under pillows, just leaving a little less money. The average pay out from the Tooth Fairy is £1.90 per tooth, down from £2.10 five years ago. The Tooth Fairy makes caring for our teeth a positive part of childhood development so is definitely worth every penny.

As young as you feel

At around the age of 25, the body stops producing collagen and elastin, the two proteins that work together to keep tissue firm and skin elastic, and the existing collagen in the body begins to break down. Facial aesthetic treatment temporarily reverts or delays this process in a non-surgical, non-invasive way.

Dr Rhiannon Howlett and Dr Anne Marie Hodgson are experienced, skilful facial aesthetic practitioners. As dentists they have extensive knowledge of head and neck areas and understand facial expression and their dynamics and muscles. Rhiannon has recently extended her portfolio to include a range of advanced procedures from facial slimming to neck band reduction and everything in between to enhance your body and rejuvenate your skin.
